

Tim Sippel , Ph.D.

Senior Marine and Aquatic Scientist

Employment

Stantec, Senior Environmental Scientist (Fish Ecology SME): Jul 2024 - Present

Note

- Saved client several million dollars in salmon habitat mitigation costs through novel analysis

Worley Consulting, Senior Environmental Scientist (Fish Ecology SME): Jun 2022 - Jun 2024

Note

- Secured multiple contracts for projects with a total estimated value of $300k

Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife, Fishery Scientist: Aug 2017 - Aug 2022

Note

- Initiated several data modernization and database development projects
- Developed analytical tools in R for salmon population assessments and forecasting

Ocean Associates (Contracted to NOAA), Research Biologist: Sep 2011 - Jul 2017

Note

- Contributed to international stock assessment of sharks and billfish in North Pacific Ocean
- Advised the Pacific Fishery Management Council on fishery policy

University of Hawaii, Post-doctoral Scientist: Mar 2010 - Aug 2011

Note

- Development R tools for movement analysis of pelagic fish

Education

Ph.D. - Marine Ecology, University of Auckland, New Zealand

MSc. - Marine Ecology, Massey University, New Zealand

B.S. - Biology, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS

Contact

tsippel@gmail.com

www.marinescientist.earth

LinkedIn

GitHub

Skills

- R programming
- GIS
- Quarto

Professional Service

Science Integration Team, CVPIA: 2025 - Present

Standing Committee on Offshore Wind and Fisheries Member, National Academies of Science: 2025 - Present

Technical Advisory Committee Member, US vs Oregon Policy Committee: 2017 - Present

Highly Migratory Species Management Team, Pacific Fisheries Management Council: 2012 - Present

Stock Assessment Analyst, International Scientific Committee for Tuna and Tuna-like Species: 2011 - Present